JAPAN LOST AGAIN

Properly, Secretary of Navy Knox calls public attention to the heavy casualties sustained by the forces which overcame the Japanese in the attack on the Gilbert islands. There can be no illusions about what is entailed in this type of operation.

The defenders, like the U. S. Marines who held the enemy at bay on Wake and Guam, have the advantage of position. They can inflict extremely heavy damage, even though in the end they, themselves, must lose because of their isolated position.

It is proper, also, to realize that the Gilberts were not one of Japan's strong positions. As new attacks are launched on their other outposts—the Marshall islands next, it may be assumed—they will encounter even stronger resistance.

The public will need to be prepared for the shock of heavy casualties, as Secretary Knox realizes. But along with realization of the casualties, the public also will have realization of something else. Japan is losing its Pacific outposts. At every point on the perimeter of its Pacific empire it is being bled to death by attacks which it can only resist, not repulse. Hard as casualties are to bear under any circumstances, they are infinitely easier to accept when they are the price of victory instead of defeat.

SECURITY FOR SMALL BUSINESSMEN

A. J. Altmyer, chairman of the social security board, holds out the hope for old age and survivors insurance for small businessmen and self-employed persons and suggests that employers might do it by simply adding their own names to the list of their employers, if the social security law were amended.

In imagination, a hopeful small businessman may see himself toiling into the small hours over his social security reports. Everything is finally in good order from A for Adams to Z for Zybowski. The small businessman's obligation has been performed. He can look his government and his help in the eye without flinching, if he can muster the strength from his dwindling reserve.

Then, just before he licks the flap of the envelope he remembers himself. He almost forgot. He will have to get out his work sheets and tackle the job again, because now his figures won't come out right. So he toils on into the night, but this time with better grace and a kindlier feeling. He is doing something for his own security now, and it makes a difference. It makes, in fact, all the difference. Chairman Altmyer is on safe ground when he plays his hunch that the small businessman has wondered too long what he gets out of it besides the work.

IT WOULD BE TOO SIMPLE

Reports of Benito Mussolini's suicide, like the similar reports heard occasionally about Adolf Hitler, never come up to expectations.

It would be too simple for these blood-stained characters to do away with themselves. That is the prerogative of the Japanese. When they lose prestige, they dispose of themselves, and there are no further complications. Unfortunately, there are not even rumors as yet of Tojo's demise.

Mussolini and Hitler, if they escape assassination, which isn't likely, probably will live out their span. They will retain a certain devoted following, if they can get out alive.

The pledge that they will brought to justice must be accepted with skepticism. Twenty-five years ago William Hohenzollern, with war guilt stamped all over him, was settling down to a quiet old age in Holland. All promises to bring him to justice dissolved in the aftermath of the war.

It won't be so easy for Hitler and Mussolini to settle down as it was for the kaiser, but it is only wishful thinking to imagine they ever would make the welcome gesture of destroying themselves. Averting trouble wouldn't be in character for either of them.

BACKS TO THE BARRIER

The division of German forces claimed by Russia after occupying Gomel is not merely military, but also geographic. Gomel lies at the northeastern extremity of the great Pripiet marshes, which extend south to Kiev and west into central Poland. The invaders in the Ukraine now are separated from the forces in White Russia not only by a Russian spearhead but by a natural barrier.

The Pripiet marshes are the traditional defense of Russia. While not impassable, they are not the kind of terrain suitable for war. In World War I, it was Germany's success in forcing Russians to retreat into them that hastened Russia's capitulation.

Meanwhile, the German claim for home consumption, that it has improved its defensive positions by shortening its lines, must be taken literally. Resistance amounting almost to offensive strength in the Kiev sector continues. Russian forces there have not yielded, but their forward drive has been stopped. Their incredible ability to mount new offensives seems undiminished, but there are clear signs that the German ability to set up defenses is increasing as the retreating invaders become concentrated in the natural funnels of escape from Russian territory.

On the land, as in the air and on the sea, Germany no longer can win, but it still can exact a terrific price for its defeat.

HONORABLY DISCHARGED

Distribution of insignia in the near future, according to a war department announcement, will make possible the identification of men and women who have been separated from military service under honorable conditions. This will correct a previous government oversight in the handling of those honorably discharged from duty.

It will minimize the temptation felt by some civilians to pass arbitrary judgment on men and women who have completed their military duty but have nothing to show for it. It will not keep self-appointed judges from talking out of turn about those who have been rejected for military duty, or deferred because of their value elsewhere, but that must wait on a general improvement in national manners.

Ideally, there would be no need for insignia even for persons honorably discharged, but in the state of manners as they are there would have to be a button for everybody to bridle the loose tongues of critics who have taken upon themselves the task of deciding who should be fighting and who, like themselves, should be safe behind the lines.

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, December 1

SPLENDID PROGRESS should be made in this day, according to the lunar and solar aspects. A quick but sagacious move may be responsible for some sort of community or public approval, co-operation or mark of esteem. This however may be best furthered by behind-the-scenes moves or agreements, with finesse and subtlety more successful than open or forced issues. In all be wise with contracts or verbal agreements, signing documents with caution.

If It Is Your Birthday
Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of outstanding importance, with an opening of some kind in relation to public or community matters. This should bring substantial support, renown, or honors. But best results may be attained by dealing with astuteness, tact, with an understanding of inner or idealistic values rather than purely factual and surface elements. Sign all writings with precaution, whether business or personal, and beware extravagance.

A child born on this day may be ambitious, public-spirited, although idealistic, and have deep inner vision or intuitions. It should accomplish worthwhile objectives, although it may be inclined to subtlety and diplomacy.

The sharp contrast between military victories and economic plunder in a vast section of the Soviet Union will surely have an influence on the political mood of the Kremlin for some time to come.—Adm. William H. Standley.

Health education has proved that premature death can be forced to retreat, that life can be prolonged and that where health is good it can be made better.—Dr. Bruno Gebhard, director Cleveland Health Museum.

My vocabulary is about 2,000 words, and that of Mr. Moore, your headmaster, is 3,000 or more, but I know 100 swear words and the headmaster doesn't know any.—Sidney Walton, British author, to New York schoolboys.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Concerning Residual Paralysis

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
WITH THE publication of her book And They Shall Walk, published by Dodd Mead, Sister Kenny

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

has plainly set forth the issues between her and what she calls "the orthodoxes" in the medical profession.

The orthodox view is that infantile paralysis is an infectious disease, the virus of which has a particular affinity for those cells in the nervous system located in the spinal cord which send fibrils to and control muscle movement. The inflammation of and around these cells sometimes puts them out of commission temporarily so that there is a temporary paralysis and sometimes completely destroys them so that there is a permanent paralysis.

Kenny Treatment
Miss Kenny found by experience that by using hot packs on the affected muscles and by manipulating and moving the limbs from the very earliest period of the disease, muscle spasm is relieved. She believes that by using this method more recoveries take place. And finally she has come to the conclusion that the disease is located in the muscle alone and that the nervous system or motor nerve cells are not diseased at all. It is unfortunate that she ever forced herself to the last conclusion. The application of the hot packs and the manipulations early in the disease are forms of physiotherapy that had probably been neglected by the regular profession and which probably do a certain amount of good. But to deny that motor nerve cells are not destroyed by the disease is sheer nonsense and I am not acquainted with any physician who believes that.

Residual Paralysis
In nearly any case of infantile paralysis there is early in the disease a wider extent of paralysis than that which finally remains. As the patient recovers he regains control over group after group of muscles no matter what the treatment. What is left permanently is

THAT KEITH WOMAN

SYNOPSIS
Randolph, society reporter, and distraught Pamela Keith, and her daughter Sandra, scheduled for that afternoon. Keith woman," as Letty's termed her, had long figured in the news. Letty is the story.

I've ched her enter a dull party, vitality lighting up the room the gold-starred flash of a ket. I've watched her entrap- men—a veritable army of n! She was really lovely—as both as satin, but basically she's an upper-drawer hussy—and I ght have sensed she'd come to be horrible end.

end to it before they got around to facing a preacher. But nothing had happened so far. . . .

Dad shattered my thoughts.

"Maybe Luke Cramer and Pamela Keith have pft-t-t-t-t, and she's all upset," said Dad, having finally quieted Mother. "I saw Cramer in the Mayflower cocktail room the other afternoon. He was with a very handsome woman. Very handsome."

"Maybe Wayne Courtney, Pamela's ex, has stirred up some trouble for her," Mother suggested. "He's in town, you know. And why on earth did he return from London now, after a fifteen-year absence? That bears thinking about, doesn't it?"

"No," I said. "It doesn't. Doctor Courtney came back to perform a delicate operation on a University of Virginia classmate of his. He told me all about it at a party the other afternoon." Wayne Courtney had. And it was a sad story. His friend had a brain tumor and he wanted no one but Courtney, a specialist in that field, to operate. He'd cabled Courtney who had managed to get a clipper out of Lisbon. Now the operation was over, and he'd soon be returning to London.

"I was surprised how young he looked," I said. "Just like a kid, really. And he's forty at least."

"Practically senile!" stressed Dad, and laughed.

I let that pass and for a moment I reconstructed in detail a recent cocktail party. Knowing the low-down on that early develop- ment of Pamela's, I had studied Wayne Courtney intently. At a casual glance he did seem young, gay and light-hearted, interested only in sports and travel and amusement. But Wayne's wide mouth curved closed to cynicism—and cruelty; his curiously gray-green eyes, beneath almost effeminate curling lashes, were cold. Brooding eyes which comes of introspection, analysis, nerves and perhaps—a deep, unhealed hurt. That deep hurt and something else, too—hated, I thought; perhaps only contempt—had burned in those curious eyes when Pamela Keith, clinging to Luke Cramer's arm, had entered the long, smoke-filled drawing-room. Pam's eyes had met that strange gaze of Courtney's and she had looked as if she were going down for the count.

For a long moment I had stood there watching those two, wonder- ing what thoughts were moving behind their eyes, remembering how they had eloped once on a snowy December night. They must have been in love then; they must have loved each other terribly. . . . Then I remembered that Pamela had been in London before the war. . . . I wondered if she'd yearned for Wayne all these years and had tried ways to get him back that none of us knew about—and had failed? Had there been so many men in her life because she wanted to forget her first—and perhaps only genuine—romance?

Washington Round-up

News and Views, Briefly On What's Going On In Capital

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—There was talk of peace in Washington today, more than there has been in a long time, mostly on the grim and cagey side.

Much of it stemmed from reports President Roosevelt, Marshal Stalin, Prime Minister Churchill and perhaps Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek already are conferring or soon will.

And the War Production board is being reorganized to meet the quick changes that appear to be expected when the war reaches its climactic stage.

From the Navy comes veiled disclosures of amazing new weapons which are being stacked against the secret "reprisal" weapon threatened by Hitler.

However, a group of senators in a position to know something about the progress of the fighting, say it will be surprising if the Germans are beaten before next summer. They say there is bound to be tough land fighting before the Nazis are cleaned up. Their views were tempered somewhat by the expressed belief of Senator Austin (R., Va.), that credence may be lent reports the Germans already may have broached peace terms. Austin says he believes the war will end suddenly, the minute the German people become convinced they are beaten.

HOUSE TAX BILL STANDING FIRM

There still are no visible signs from the senate finance committee of a weakening on the stand taken by some of its members that the $2,140,000,000 tax bill passed by the house represents all the new revenue the taxpayers can pay. The committee, now holding hearings on the bill which carries only one-fifth of the $10,500,000,000 asked by the Treasury, is looking around for a way to tax war wages.

FEELER

The first suggestion of a compromise has been made in the senate dispute as to whether the administration-favored food subsidies—designed to hold down retail prices—should be continued, or abolished. Senator Ellender (D., La.) is the sponsor of a plan by which federal payments would be limited to $1,250,000,000 a year with continuance of subsidy payments predicated upon retention of the Little Steel wage increase formula. The house has approved a bill to abolish subsidies altogether.

COAL PRICES UP

Higher labor costs have sent the price ceiling on soft coal up an average of 17 cents a ton. The Office of Price Administration formally boosted the ceilings, not enough, however, to satisfy some of the operators and the United Mine Workers, who have argued the increase still will not carry the load of $1.50 a day wage raises.

KEEPING APPOINTMENTS WITH CONVOYS

In a day's combat, an infantry division fires about 300 tons of ammunition . . . 100 37 mm. anti-aircraft guns, 127½ tons . . . and the thousands of army vehicles "passing the ammunition" and other supplies each burn up an average of 10 gallons of gasoline . . . All of these materials—the guns, the "gas", the ammunition, the vehicles—plus 700,000 other different military items—must come by sea.

A gigantic supply task without parallel in the history of the nation, this job calls for the finest coordination of American railroads with ships.

The railroads must bring everything to ship sidings exactly as needed—and when needed. Any slip, any delay, may hold up a convoy sailing.

So keeping appointments with convoys is one of the most important jobs railroads have these days.

If pushing a "convoy train" through ahead of your passenger train caused you to be a little late for an early-morning business appointment, the Pennsylvania Railroad feels sure you will gladly overlook it. The demands of war must have not only railroad equipment—but the right-of-way!

How Germany is growing stronger

YOU MAY THINK Germany is growing weaker. But—
In many military respects, she is actually growing stronger.
Here's how:

1. As Germany's lines of communication grow shorter, her military might will gather power, like a coiling spring. The Nazi armies that fought so furiously as far from home as Stalingrad and the Caucasus will fight even more furiously as the fighting approaches Poland and Germany proper.
2. Today Germany has 3 times as many combat divisions as she had when she attacked Poland 4 years ago. The divisions lost at Stalingrad have been replaced, and Germany has raised or reequipped a total of 60 new divisions. All told, Germany has 300 divisions!

3. The Germans now have 35,000,000 war workers in Nazi-dominated lands, as contrasted with 23,000,000 at the start of the war.
4. Germany can make ends meet on industrial manpower. She expects to add 3,000,000 more war workers by Christmas in an all-out mobilization drive.
5. Allied air bombings have been affective, but the vast industrial power of Hitler's Europe is still high.
6. American officers returning from the front say that German prisoners are just as cocky and determined as ever.

7. German technicians are working feverishly on the development of new and deadlier weapons. One of these—the "magnetic" torpedo—has already begun to take its toll of lives and materials in the Battle of the Atlantic. Another, a rocket gun, has devastating fire power.

Nobody's trying to scare you. We're going to win this war. But the toughest fighting is still ahead—and War Bond buying must keep pace with the fighting!

The more men and the more money we can pour in now, the quicker we win. Buy an extra Bond—today!

Notre Dame Retains Top Ranking In Annual Football Poll

IRISH POPULARITY WANES LITTLE, VOTE OF SCRIBES SHOWS

Iowa Pre-Flight Is Given Second Place In Associated Press Poll

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Notre Dame remains the top football team in the country, despite its 13 weeks ago when Notre Dame's popularity took a drastic cut.

Eighty-six of 131 sports experts, voting in the final Associated Press poll of the season, marked the Irish No. 1 on their ballots. The remaining 45 voters were definite in their opinions that the loss had robbed the Frank Leahy machine of much of its glamour. Some dropped the Irish as low as seventh, in contrast to the poll of three weeks ago when Notre Dame established a record by snaring every first-place ticket.

As it was, however, the Irish finished with 1,259 points to take over the mythical national championship in succession to the 1942 Ohio State eleven.

Not only did Notre Dame's loss cost it heavily in points but it lifted the Great Lakes aggregation from 21st to sixth place and made the Iowa Pre-Flight, Irish victim No. 9 by a 14 to 13 count, a strong runner-up to the South Bend stalwarts.

The Seahawks grabbed 12 first place votes and a total of 1,028 points—only 231 less than the total compiled by Notre Dame.

The leading teams, determined on a basis of 10 points for each first place ballot, nine for second, etc., (first place votes in parentheses):

Golf's New Pin-Up Girl 18-Year-Old New Jersey Miss

AP Features
BLOOMFIELD, N. J.—Goldfom now has a pin-up girl. She is pretty, 18-year-old Catherine Fox of Bloomfield, N. J., who has joined the nation's top-flight golf ranks.

Her success has been followed closely by sailors, sailors and marines in all sections of the country. By letter many of them have congratulated her and requested pictures.

"Some of the boys have even proposed marriage," Miss Fox says with a chuckle.

Among the most protogenic of America's female sports stars, Catherine has hazel eyes, brown hair and a fair complexion. She stands five feet, seven inches and weighs 130 pounds.

Spectators at tournament play invariably turn their attention toward the ever-smiling Katy.

Born On The Links

She was born at the Kidderminster Golf club, Worcestshire, England, where her father was pro-manager. The Foxes moved to the United States when Catherine was two years old and at four she took her first lesson from her dad. Ten years later she was competing in tournaments.

In 1939, Katy was the youngest player entered in the U. S. women's championship and in 1941 she qualified in the nationals with an 87.

Always popular with friends and opponents, Miss Fox was captain and star of the Bloomfield High School golf team in 1940 and 1941. She was elected captain by the boys who comprised the rest of the squad.

Won Miley Trophy

Her successes this year include the winning of the Marion Miley Memorial trophy for turning in the lowest total qualifying scores for the women's Western Open tournaments. Her scores were 78-74-152—five less than the nearest competitor.

Katy reached the semi-finals of both tournaments before tasting defeat at the hands of the ultimate champion.

Her father, who is professional at Glen Ridge Country club, predicts a brilliant career for his daughter "if she puts on a little more weight."

Unlike most glamour girls, Catherine is trying her mightiest to follow dad's advice. Already a long driver, Fox says Katy will get added distance from the tee with extra poundage.

"Katy's climb has been steady," says Fox. "Three years ago she was fighting to break 90. Two years ago

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Most of the arguing in the minor league baseball meetings concerns the attempt to give Judge W. G. Bramham the heave-ho was head of the National association and a move to change the voting setup. However, there's another amendment coming up in the next few days that may have far reaching effects if it is passed. That concerns "drafting" territory, and since the war has bombed a lot of Class "B" cities to "AA" size, there are some good territories waiting to be drafted. The pitch is "that prices ranging from $50,000 down, in addition to the value of the park, players, etc., being taken over, are set by the National agreement. What the big minors want is an arbitration board to decide what the territory is worth—and in the case of non-operating leagues, it probably wouldn't be very much.

OBSERVATION POST
Shag Shaughnessy, International league proxy and No. 1 candidate for the National association presidency, makes this observation that seems to explain the entire fuss between the big minors and the little ones: "In baseball fellows who have something don't want to give it up, even if they don't deserve it."

LOEBY PATROL
Connie Mack, nearly 81, shows more endurance than a lot of younger standees in the hotel lobby. Charlie Grimm can do a pretty fair job, too. Grimm argues: "I don't care what else you say about Lou Neukoff. He still can hit if you let him alone."

SIX QUAKER FOES START BASKETBALL GAMES THIS WEEK

Salem, However, Does Not Begin Season Until Dec. 7 At Ravenna

Although Coach Herb Brown's Salem Quakers do not make their 1943-44 debut until a week from tonight at Ravenna, six of their opponents will swing into action this week—with three teams, Warren, Sebring and Girard, playing two games.

Sebring will start things off by entertaining nearby Beloit High on the roomy McKinley floor. Coach R. E. Akenhead, beginning his first season as cage mentor, will be starting two lettermen from last season's expert Sebring crew, and will be pulling the balance of his lineup from former reservists back from last season.

The Trojans, who play Salem in the last battle of the year on the local floor, open with Beloit and then play two more games on their own floor before venturing into unknown gyms. Goshen Township goes to Sebring Friday night and the Alliance Aviators, coached by Jerry Mosher, will visit the pottery city Dec. 7.

In Action This Week
Friday night five future Quaker opponents are involved in their first games of the season. In Youngstown, Rayen meets Austin-Town Fitch in a bid-lifter for Coach Joe Horn's Rayenites. Louisville travels to meet Minerva, a new Quaker foe this season, for the first battle of the year for both schools and one of the first Tri-County league games. Back in the Trumbull county district, Girard takes on Liberty for the first of a double-header that is extended over Friday and Saturday. Both games will be played in Liberty.

The Warren Harding Presidents, manned fruitfully by four lettermen, battle against Cleveland East Tech Friday night and entertain Clevelanders again Saturday when Holy Name visits there. Coach Dwight W. LaFerty has bright prospects this season, with Don Spencer, Gene Rossi and Bill Cain, who all won their letters at guard last season, functioning as a nucleus with Forward George Marti, another veteran.

Columbiana Looks Good
Here in Columbiana county the county-named Clippers will start what promises to be a good season against nearby Salineville. Merle Atkins, Columbiana mentor, has six letter winners back from the squad that ended up second best at Kent last year. Dickinson, Case, Laughlin, Newel, Evans and Peck are back with their varsity markings and Harry Hollinger, a 6 foot 3 inch center, may be available this season.

Hollinger was a mainstay in the Clipper squad last year but didn't see action in the district tournament. All in all, according to Coach Atkins, it looks to be a favorable picture from a pre-season slant.

The Ravenna Ravens, Salem's first opponents, do not begin their season until the game with the Quakers next Tuesday. Coach Harry Gilcrest started work with his squad on the same afternoon that Brown began practices. The Ravens have two lettermen back and a host of probables from last year's reserve squad and some good material from the football team.

Named Army Captain
WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 30.—Thomas A. Lombardo of St. Louis was elected captain of the 1944 Army football team succeeding Casimir Wyslinski, center, of Steubenville, Ohio.

are coming also. We think that Harmon is walking out too." The letter was dated Nov. 6.

Next Liquor Quota Will Include Bonus

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Nov. 30.—Ohioans will get a bonus along with their regular rationed liquor allotment in December as in the previous four ration periods, Liquor Director Don Fisher said today.

However, the spirits to be distributed will vary from the past. The regular allotment will be composed of one quarter, fifth or two pints of whisky or brandy. Gin, which formerly had been on the regular list, was transferred to the bonus, along with rum and cordial. Brandy likewise traded places.

Fisher also said the new period, starting tomorrow, would extend through Jan. 15 rather than end at the close of the month, saving possibly one-third the amount of liquor ordinarily consumed in a normal period.

Fisher said he expected shipments totalling 240,000 cases—60 per cent of it whisky—to meet the Christmas rush, the same as was received in November. Sales are expected to total 90 per cent of the more than 2,000,000 card holders during the holiday season.

'BREAK' HINTED IN OHIO FARM KILLING

Slaying Was Deliberate Plot to Wipe Out Family, Officials Claim

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Nov. 30.—The wealthy McCoy family was killed in a deliberate plot to wipe out, a spokesman close to Fayette county officials said today, and a "break" was anticipated within a matter of hours.

This source, whose name can not be used, said officials had discarded an earlier theory that revenge motivated the triple slayings last Thanksgiving eve and decided finally that the killer acted with the sole intent of exterminating the family.

"The case probably will be solved within 24 hours," the informant said. "It might be sooner."

Sheriff W. H. Icenhower and Prosecutor John B. Hill were working swiftly along this new reasoning 24 hours after county commissioners voted a $2,000 reward for the killer and declined for the time to summon outside detectives.

The McCoy—Elmer, 59; his wife, Forrest, 64, and their daughter, Mildred, 22—were shot to death at their country home "Oak View" Thanksgiving eve.

Sheriff Icenhower and his deputies talked at length with all persons living near enough to the farm to have seen any unusual happening.

"None of these people know any more than they told me Thanksgiving day," the sheriff said.

Dr. J. A. McCoy of Washington Court House, brother of the slain woman, and Mrs. Laura Collette of Wilmington, sister of the dead man, were named co-administrators of the estate by Probate Court Judge Otis Core. They posted joint bond of $25,000.

The farm has been posted against trespassers, hundreds of whom swarmed over it Sunday.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie

clared that if the Allies won "then the Barmarities of the steppes would sweep across the continent and destroy it as the base and source of human culture."

"The Nazi world-beater really has something there—provided we eliminate the bitter and unjustifiable talk of barbarities and destruction of culture, and consider the basic thought which he has in mind, namely that Russia is going to dominate the European continent after the war. This column has been saying that for months, and I could write you a book on the politico-economic-military aspects of the situation to prove it."

What Hitler recognizes—and it means his personal doom—is that a vast new power is being unleashed in Russia. The Soviet has made it clear, however, that it has no desire to see Germany destroyed, although the Nazi chief and his regime must go.

AVIATION GASOLINE PLANT BEING BUILT

Oil Firm Is Constructing $8,500,000 Project At Cleveland Refinery

CLEVELAND, Nov. 30.—Fuel demands of American war planes pounding the enemy have become so great that building of aviation gasoline plants must top the nation's war construction program, military and air experts said today. The assertions were made at a meeting announcing the Standard Oil Company of Ohio is constructing an $8,500,000 aviation gasoline plant at its No. 1 refinery here.

"The Army and Navy want the building of aviation gasoline plants to be the country's No. 1 war construction program, so vital is the need for high-octane fuel," said W. T. Holliday, Sohio president.

He added that 70 aviation gasoline plants are under construction throughout the country, 80 per cent of them financed by the petroleum industry.

Output of this "better than 100-octane fuel," Holliday declared, is expected to near the 500,000-barrels-a-day mark by the middle of next summer, compared with a national production of 40,000 barrels when the country entered the war.

Navy Lieut. E. T. Ullstrum, assisting in the Sohio construction project here and representing both the Army and Navy at the meeting, said both the "Army and Navy find themselves short of aviation gasoline."

He explained the need was felt because "plane losses have been fewer than anticipated, plane production has increased and pilot training programs have succeeded so well."

The new plant is expected to be completed sometime next spring. "The new refinery's capacity was not listed in barrels, but the company said its capacity would be 'more than sufficient to carry 100 heavy four-engine bombers on a round trip between the British Isles and Berlin every 24 hours'."

REDS ADVANCE IN SIX SECTORS

Roll Steadily Westward On Long Front, Hammering Nazi Defenses

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW, Nov. 30.—Russian armies rolled steadily westward in six sectors of the long front today—three in White Russia and three in the Ukraine—doggedly battering their way through forests, swamps, and plans densely spotted with heavily fortified German defense works.

Greatest progress was reported in the Zhitob sector, northwest of captured Gomel, where Gen. Constantine Kekosovsky's troops were converging in a pincers movement on that rail hub and forcing a Russian communiqué said Red army spearheads had captured Strzyshin, 12 miles south of Zhitobin, and had seized 40 villages in a drive from the west toward that strategic enemy base.

A Reuters dispatch from Moscow said another Soviet column had plunged further west 25 miles south of Bobruisk, 35 miles northwest of Zhitobin on the Gomel-Minsk railway.

Retreat Toward Poland
Other advances were recorded in the Berezina and Pripiet river valleys west of the Dnieper river.

Eight hundred Germans were reported killed as the Russians surged forward, stabbing closer to the enemy supply system while the Nazis steadily retreated toward the old Polish border.

More than 200 miles south, another Russian army launched a renewed drive on the west bank of the Dnieper between Kiev and Kremenchuk, driving the Germans back eight miles west of Cherkasy, the communiqué announced.

(Russian forces have pierced the German defense lines at Cherkasy to establish a bridgehead on the Dnieper river and have reduced to less than five miles in width the corridor linking the Nazi garrison within the city and German forces holding the area between Cherkasy and Kremenchuk, a Reuters dispatch from Moscow to London said today.)

Other Soviet columns were on the move southwest of Dnepropetrovsk and below Kremenchuk. Red army airmen shot down 34 German planes and bomber concentrations of troops and trains at Apostolovo, he communicated said.
